NACR is a leading global integrator of best-in-class communications solutions and services, and a trusted advisor to more than 5,500 customers ranging from small businesses to FORTUNE® 100 and global enterprises. The company works closely with Avaya and other technology innovators to integrate the latest hardware, software, and applications into end-to-end multivendor solutions for diverse markets.

"NACR is excited to increase our investments in business-critical contact center resources — expanding our already impressive portfolio so that we can deliver even more added value to our customers," said John F. Lyons, President and CEO of NACR. "In addition, this renewed focus will allow NACR to continue to be the industry-leading advanced services organization for the consultation, design, integration, operation, and optimization of state-of-the-art contact centers."

By making the contact center a strategic priority, the NACR Contact Center Advanced Services Delivery Practice will enable the company to deliver integrated multivendor and multichannel solutions by leveraging:

- A suite of scalable, end-to-end, customizable solutions around the NACR-recommended architecture and best practices
- Advanced contact center services, cloud and self-service solutions, and integration expertise from across ConvergeOne
- Nationwide contact center teams, expertise, and partner relationships

In his new role, Lathrop will help to further grow NACR's leadership as a systems integrator in the contact center space.
